Four years, and oh how they fly. Well only in retrospect, while your living it, it seems so long. How many times have you sat at lunch, chatted with your friends hoping the day would end? I did it every day. And the socials…what good times they were. Preparing weeks in advance for the perfect everything, date, duds, hair & accessories. A night to dress to impress and hang out with friends then talk about it at lunch the next day. These moments are what made high school special, as Hallmark as that sounds. You may not remember who was in all your classes, but you'll never forget who sat at the lunch table or accompanied you to the dances. Can we talk about Homecoming, 35 candidates for a top 5 court. Did you ever see so many signs declaring what club candidate you should vote for? But these are the days to cherish, those simple times when life was fun and we all were safe to be who we wanted to be; high school students living each day to its fullest…this is As Good As it Gets.

It's a Wonderful Life...

Lowell High School, Lowell High School, may we ever stand, honest faithful and courageous, loyal to our land.

It's 5:57 a.m., there are three minutes of sleep left for the dreaming seniors at Lowell High School. 5:58, 5:59, beep, beep, beep. One of the most hated sounds Monday through Friday.

Now it's time to get up & get ready. The amount of time this takes varies from student to student. But whether you get ready fast or slow, the homeroom bell rings at 7:30 a.m. So most students try to be in by then.

7:35 a.m. Most students are in their Mod 1/2 class now. The ones who are not will have to make the trip to the tardy center, ugghh.

Commitment to excellence in everything we do: academics, activities and citizenship.

Home of the Red Raiders

During the school day, seniors take a variety of classes. Often they are more interesting than the ones they took as underclassmen. English is a must; then most student choose between languages, a math class, a science class and some electives.

2:05 p.m. is the time students have spent their day waiting for. This is when school is dismissed and large groups of seniors break down into individual groups. Some students will play a sport with their team, while others will go to their club meeting. Some will go to work, while many others will either start their homework or simply hang out. All making for a hectic day for stressed out seniors!

Searching the web for sports stats, Ryan Normandin uses before school time to check up on local teams including the World Champion Boston Red Sox!

Freshman Spring Fling

It's six o'clock on a Friday night and it's your first dance as a freshman at a new school. The dress is laid out; the matching shoes are by the door. All the jewelry is on the dresser, hair is done, makeup looks faboulous. Everything is coming together perfectly, you are absolutely gorgeous. Dad has got the camera ready and all you need to do is smile!

The Freshman Spring Fling was like the senior prom to many students. Getting ready, looking all beautiful, it's an awesome experience that friends share with one another. For some it's the first formal dance where they actually have a date. Now that is BIG! There is nothing like taking pictures and dancing the night away with that hot new boy or girl that you've been crushing!

A Night to Remember

November 21, 2003, one of those days teachers dread. One of those days none of the juniors paid attention, because their brains were all a flutter with thoughts of the Harvest.

SLIDE TO THE LEFT
Spinning the hits, DJ Josh tries to get these lovely ladies to do the ChaCha Slide. But there was too much resistance.

From school, girls rushed home and piled on the makeup and rushed to make their hair appointments. The boys relaxed before putting on their suits.

Soon a fleet of limos & self driven students pulled up to the Castleton in Windham, New Hampshire. With their $30 tickets in hand, and looking beautiful, it was time to wait in line. Wait in line to get in! Wait in line to take pictures! Wait in line to get food!

DJ Josh played the most danceable songs; clearly he favored Kelis "Milkshake" and Lil Jon "Get Low."

ONE LAST SPIN ON THE DANCE FLOOR

Eleven-thirty seemed to come quick, and it was time to leave. Some went home, some got food, others went to friends' houses, but all attendees agree, they all had fun!

SITTING PRETTY

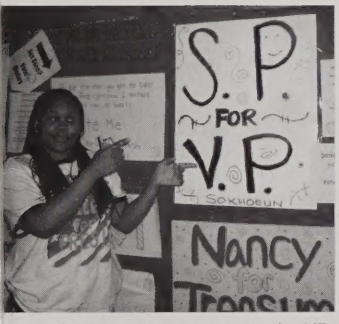
Senior Portraits

Senior Portraits...34
Second Alphabetic Section...82



annon Hall identifies her choice for VP.

Wild & crazy senior staffers make light of hard work.

My eyes have never been so assaulted. Neon signs begging for votes every two feet. Catchycandidat slogans graced the walls, while some candidates even sported clothing to rally for support. Seniors had spirit. Over 35 candidates vied for 4 senior class officer positions. Over 348 seniors voted their candidates to office, leaving Luteh Tashi, Shawn Clod, Jennifer Kincaid & Nancy Do left standing to get the hopes & dreams of the Class of 2005 accomplished. In June 2004, seniors met with Balfour Ring Company & Hockmeyer O'Connor Portrait Studios representatives. Did you get a class ring? Did you have your picture taken over the summer or did you opt for your ID picture? Selecting just the right outfit & having your smile be picture perfect were some of the concerns seniors. Either way, by November 2, students had already returned their pictures to Room 417 to get their coveted spot in the alphabetic section...taking their proper place, Center Stage.

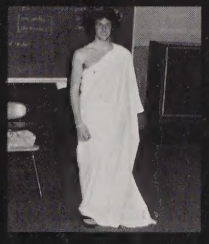
Have you ever had to be in 2 places at once? With so many club meetings in one day, how can a student choose which one to attend? On Thursday, one must choose between the Chess & Science Clubs which can be hard with all those ILC events celebrating different cultural happenings. It gets even trickier for those who are career minded, because they can get involved with the Business Professionals of America, DECA or even the National Honor Society.



Participating in Student Council events is always fun; but so isn't expanding one's cultural knowledge through the multitude of clubs which include Club for Asian Pacific American Youth, South Asian Club, Hispanic Club, Portuguese Speakers Club & the Black Unity Club. If those aren't your forte, then show off your inner artist through Show Choir, Dance Ensemble, Band or Color Guard. Lowell High offers a variety of clubs & activities sure to appeal to the entire student body. It is just a matter of what club to join, which events to go to & choosing to stay active. Having fun & being a part of something leads students to...Where the Heart Is.

A SWEET NIGHT

After several years of lagging ticket sales, the senior semi-formal was finally cancelled. This did not sit well with many students; a fact made clear during Senior Class Officer speeches: "Bring back the Snowball."

After much coaxing, Student Activities Coordinator Mrs. McNamara agreed to bring back the dance, on the contingent that 200 tickets would be sold within four days. Based on past events, 200 students would cover the cost incurred by having such an event. Much to her surprise, over 500 tickets were sold by the February 12 dance. The Senior/ Junior Sweetheart Semi was born.

Held at the Lowell Elks, the dance floor was stifling hot with no room to move, let alone breathe.

DJ Josh Spitaleri kept everything moving, playing crowd favorites such as the Cha Cha shuffle; he even orchestrated a Senior Harlem Shake Off.

It is not all fun & games creating a $34,000 publication. Working under constant deadlines & ever aggravating computer malfunctions, staffers of the 2005 Spindle had their work cut out for them. With a large class during Mods 3/4, 27 students set out on this great adventure. Julie Zahareas captured the prize for her Best Theme submission & thus paved the wave for a variety of movie themed quips. The first color deadline loomed in early October as journalists furied to find the right photos & perfect phrases to capture the essence of the Class of 2005. As December rolled around, seniors eagerly entered memory sheet information for their classmates, while reviewing portraits submitted by Hockmeyer O'Connor Studios & others. Each student had the opportunity to work on pages of interest from each section of the book. Kudos to Sokhoeun Peov who completed over 10 pages in the publication & to Cayleigh Baillargeon, resident clever caption writer, for their tireless work. Staffers included Meghan Bahou, Cayleigh Baillargeon, Salima Banda, Malorie Bartlett, Catherine Boucher, Elizabeth Brown, Tracey Camper, Alexander Carnevale, Kristen Carr, Victoria Coyle, Samantha Cunningham, Caitlin Decker, Jennifer Hays, Chanpheakdey Im, Jennifer Kincaid, Chansavy Lim, Malisa Mao, Caragh McGarry, Emily Millett, Susana Neov, Sokhoeun Peov, Katherine Richardson, Jennifer Robbin, Samantha Silva, Chandapao Vanthin, Socheatte Yem & Julie Zahareas.

Justice is Served

Objection your honor; just one of the many phrases heard during the student run trials, which were complete with lawyers, witnesses, and judges. Prior to each competition, a group of professional lawyers would gather together to a prepare legitimate case for each participating school in teh event. Once the case is presented, participants are given the option of siding with either the prosecution or the defense, and decide who will be lawyers and witnesses. Each school has two months to prepare for trial day. During this time, members of Mock Trial must work together to decide what specific strategies must be implemented, choose what examination questions are imperative , and prepare opening & closing arguments that will wow the audience and sway the judge. Months of preparation are put on the line the day of the competition...when justice is served.

Listen up sports fans. Can you remember the excitement when the Patriots won the Super Bowl, oh I apologize, won IT three times. Can anyone say Dynasty? Oh & our beloved Red Sox...they finally did it too! Our senior year was made complete & now, unlike those who have gone before us, we can die knowing the Red Sox won the World Series! Does anyone even watch hockey? They won't this season, unless they are attending a game at the Tsongas Arena to see our skaters take on Dracut. So much for the major league happenings, lets talk about our budding professionals at LHS. Day in & day out, athletes took to the fields to practice or play. Our athletes were featured as Lowell Sun All Stars & some even captured the state spotlight in The Boston Globe & The Boston Herald. Teams continued to be a force to reckon with in the Merrimack Valley with each sport having their own arch nemesis, none more despised than the Golden Warriors of Andover...but the girls basketball team triumphed for the first time.This highlights the fact that Lowell athletes don't just play to win, they play For the Love of the Game.

AFTER A LONG RACE DAY, the varsity boat docks. The boys varsity 8 drills up the river for technique practice. The girls varsity 8 pulls away from the competition landing them second place at the public school championship race. During a head piece, the Resolute walks up on the Dinsmore as they approach the bridge. Working out their abs, Michelle Toomey & captain Beth Regan do an assortment of crunches. Rowers Jen Hays & Mike Griffin relax after a hard day on the water.

Athletes Row..

Rowers soar to over 80 strong in the fall program, making it a highly successful season...

Beginning with the Textile River Regatta, this was the most successful season in LHS Crew history.At the Textile River Regatta, the girls' 1st & 2nd varsity eights had their strongest showing ever, placing 4th & 10 out of 21 teams. The boys 1st varsity eight placed 8th out of 18 crews. Both the boys' & girls' varsity fours placed 10th in their respective races.

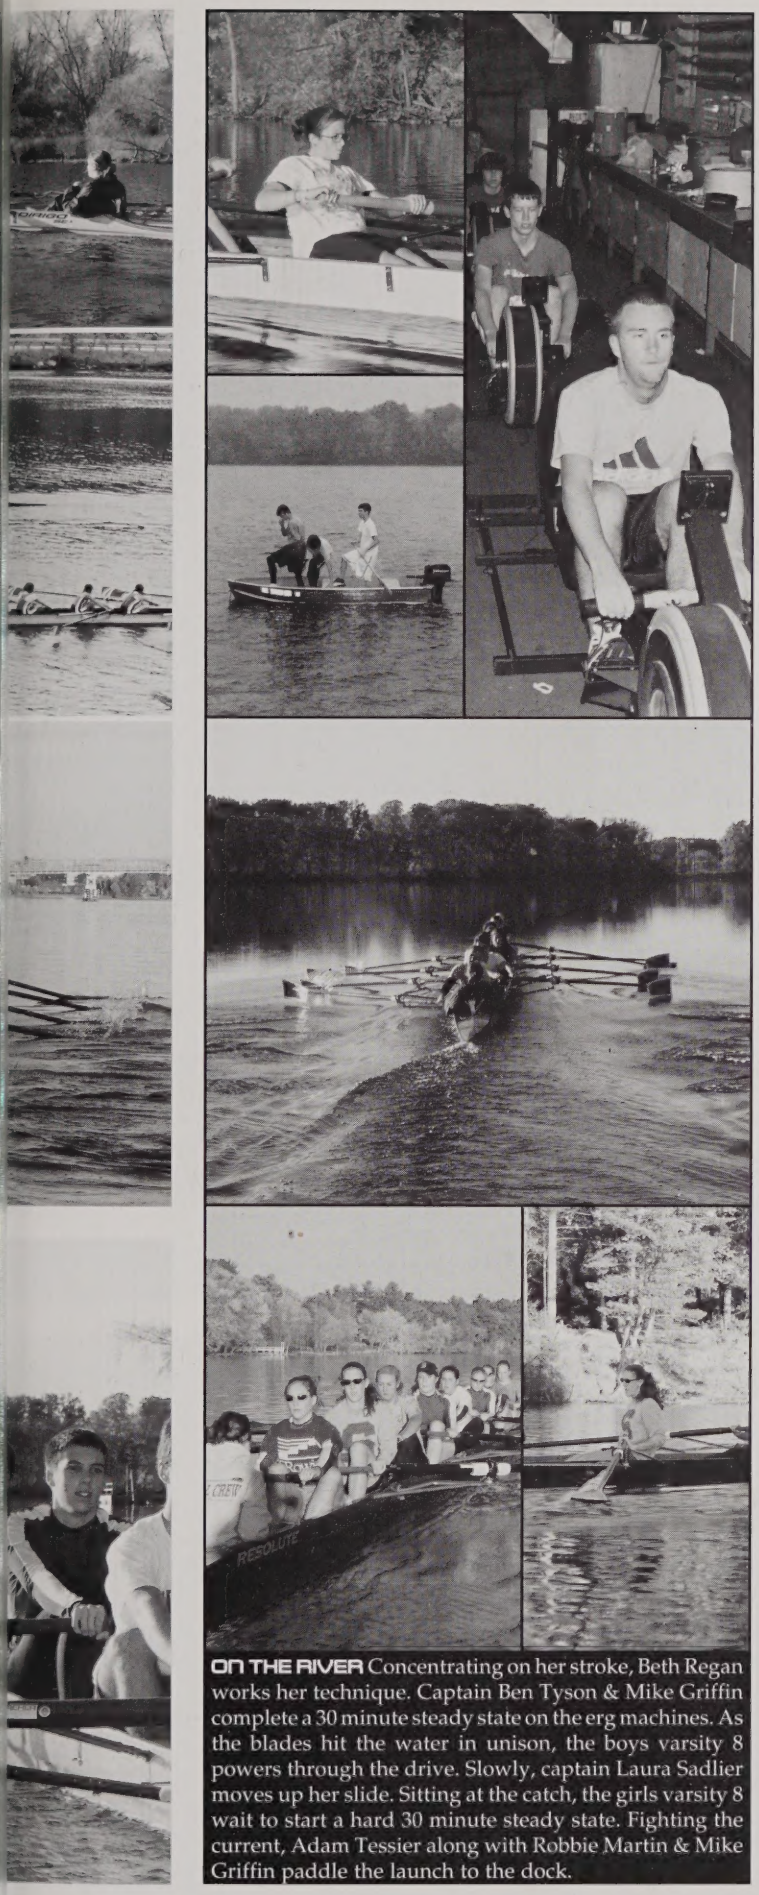
The season only got stronger. At the New Hampshire Championships, 69 athletes participated. The girls' 1st varsity eight wona silver medal for the second year in a row, and the second varsity eight, racing in the same race, placed 12th out of 17 boats. The boys' 1st varsity eight placed 6th, a phenomenal improvement over last year's last place finish.

The last race of the season, Mass State Champi-onships was the most successful regatta. 68 athletes competed and four of seven boars placed in the top 3!

Laura Sadlier & Shellane Shattuck ham it up on the rig. Shellane is ranked 14th in the country among junior women competing in National Team Testing.

Gliding in synch, Steve Hall takes his position on the seventh seat. Steve was part of the Second Place Mass State Champion Boys' Varsity Eight Boat.

HIGH FIVE Joking aroun,a David Sickorez, Ben Tyson, Adam Tessier, Michael Griffin & Robbie Walters give each other a high five. The joking got them an extra 20 minutes on the ergs.



ON THE RIVER Concentrating on her stroke, Beth Regan works her technique. Captain Ben Tyson & Mike Griffin complete a 30 minute steady state on the erg machines. As the blades hit the water in unison, the boys varsity 8 powers through the drive. Slowly, captain Laura Sadlier moves up her slide. Sitting at the catch, the girls varsity 8 wait to start a hard 30 minute steady state. Fighting the current, Adam Tessier along with Robbie Martin & Mike Griffin paddle the launch to the dock.

IN STRIDE
Co-captain John Gallagher runs along the grassy course uphill toward the finish line. Other captains included David D'Urbano, Sean Desmond, Brian Gagnon, Steven Iem & Stephen Torigian. John was named to the MVC All Star Team with Steven Iem.

READY TO LEAD
Up for another race, captains Noelle Horelik & Savannah Cook stretch out on the sidelines. Savanah joined Teresa Wamala as a MVC All Star.

OFF & RUNNING Getting a head start, Brian Gagnon, John Gallagher & Steven Torigian inch ahead of the competition; David D'Urbano & Stephen Torigian were named to the MVC All Conference Team. At the end of the race, Sean Desmond passes over the finish line. Senior Brian Gagnon outpaces his opponents and shows no sign of stopping; Brian was named MVC Most Valuable Runner. In the huddle, Coach Donnelly encourages the girls prior to the start of the varsity race.

Just One Time...

The Raiders defense successfully breaks up the Dracut stack play. Anticipating the rebound, Lowell boxes out the opponent. Lining up for the National Anthem, the team anxiously awaits the start of the game. Senior captain Jami Shugrue gets pumped for the game.

Every team has one arch rival and when they meet up, spirit is always at its highest and tension runs deep. For this team, our rival was the Golden Warriors of Andover High School. Throughout Mike Crowley's coaching career, not once in their 24 matchups did Lowell prove to be victorious against them. On February 8, however, all that changed. During the pregame huddle, senior Julie McArdle quoted "Little Giants" saying, "All it takes is just one time, one time to play your absolute hardest..." and that is exactly what they did. For 32 solid minutes, the scoreboard never read a difference of more than 6 points. In the last two minutes however, the Red Raiders found one last burst of energy and put up the greatest fight of the season, ending the game with a final score of 62-55. Lowell had finally beat those Golden Warriors, which knocked them from the #1 seed in the MVC; what followed was pandimonium & fun at the 9s.

On Top in the MVC

...Where Winning Is Tradition...

The Red Raiders entered the 2004-2005 season with high expectations; the senior-led group were returning state champions; and they did not disappoint. The Raiders opened the season with a lopsided 61-12 win over Lawrence. Rolled on to win the Wayland Tournament, the Woburn tournament & 16 of their next 17 dual meets for a final record of 17-1.

The Red Raiders finished Second in the Lowell Holidays despite first places by Casey Boyle, a three-time champion, Brian Sheehan, a two time champion & Nick Logan, who picked up his first tournament title.

As usual, Lowell finished the season against rival Chelmsford. Before the meet, legendary Coach George Bossi was honored by having the wrestling room named after him. After the ceremony wrestling began and the Raiders closed out their season by defeating Chelmsford 38-21.

The Division 1 North tournament was the first postseason event where wrestlers must place to move on to the state tournament. Casey Boyle, Mike Betty, Corey Betty, Brian Foye, Jim Dillon, Brian Sheehan, Matt Hubert, Nick Logan & Tim Sweet each won titles. Also placing for Lowell were Brandon Gauthier, Kevin Murphy, Alex Carnevale & Jason Rosemond.

Heading to Springfield, Lowell was confident for the state tournament. They won the team title, making them champs three out of the past four years. Casey Boyle made history by becoming the first four time state champion in school history. Brian Foye was also crowned champion; as was junior Brian Sheehan who became a three time state champion. Mike Betty, Corey Betty, Jim Dillon & Nick Logan also placed.

At New Englands, Lowell finished fifth overall. Brian Sheehan won a New England title at 152 while Casey Boyle finished runner up at 119 & Jim Dillon came in fifth at 145.

What are we really here for. For approximately 720 days we roam the halls of Lowell High. We spend time with friends, but the majority of our time is spent with teachers. In fact, we spend about 4,320 hours with them. Teachers are obliged to enlighten us. Whether they are talking about current events or speaking a language no one understands, they meet the task. Aside from administering tests & quarterlies, assigning homework or reviewing lessons, teachers want to see us grow & prosper. With such interesting classes like Political Science & Psychology, the course selection catalog keeps growing, giving students a myriad of choices, with only seven slots to fill. If the classes at Lowell High don't appeal to you, there is always the option of taking courses at the University of Massachusetts at Lowell or Middlesex Community College. The teachers' commitment to excellence in everything we do forces each & every student to go...The Whole Nine Yards.

Mrs. Iarrapino

Where to go and what to do, so many options. When you picture Lowell High's surroundings, you think not only of the canals & nearby mills, but also of the multitude of shops in the downtown area. During our freshman & sophomore years, Burger King was the place to be, but now with its demise, places such as Mambo Grill & Dunkin Donuts are the hot spots. In only a few years, Lowell has changed so much. Places such as the Tsongas Arena & the Lowell Memorial Auditorium provide many events that keep the city thriving. And of course, the Class of 2005 would be remiss if we did not pay homage to our favorite breakfast place...Arthur's Boott Mill Diner. Oh, those famous Boott Mill sandwiches, dripping with grease, homefries, egg, cheese & meat; a teenagers delight. Burger King was another great spot to get away to on an early release, but times are tough and consumer wants dominate business. With all Lowell has to offer, Lowell High School students have the ability to make each community sponsor...Almost Famous.

What an amazing time for seniors. In just 12 weeks, seniors saw & did it all! Starting with spring sports, our senior athletes faced their final season in a Red Raider uniform, while other seniors attended those final club meetings. Honors Night started the realization for many--high school is over. Smiling while accepting awards, seniors faced the reality they have been waiting for; the end to high school. Time to start the next chapter. But not before having that last bit of fun with our friends at Prom, what a beautiful setting at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium with glamour galore. Class Officers really played it up to our Hollywood expectations. Senior week events didn't disappoint either, can anyone say "you were terrific" in that hypnotic gaze. The celebration didn't end at the June 8 Commencement for some select seniors, as the Softball team kept their dream alive until they made the perfect fit of the "Glass Slipper;" a Division 1 State Championship to make high school complete. Still, now, seniors Can't Hardly Wait for what lies ahead, but always remember where you came from and the memories you made at LHS!

D1 State Champs

The Slipper Fits

It hasn't happened to a female sports team at Lowell High since the Girl's Basketball Team of 1905: A State Title.

The 2005 team, after starting off the season with a 2-6 record, came together, as a team, and ended their season with an 18-8 record clinching a playoff berth. They captured the Division I North State Title and ultimately the Division I Crown. It was the quintessential Cinderella Story as the girls rode a "Lucky 13" game winning streak, yielding only 4 runs in the tournament while slaughtering opponents' pitching for 31 of their own.

The road to the "'ship" appeared to be a grind at the onset of the tournament for the Lady Raiders. In the first three games of the tournament the team easily disposed of each of their higher ranked foes. The stage was set for a showdown with undefeated, top-ranked Reading. After a 7-run onslaught in the top of the first inning, the Lady Raiders put it in cruise control on their way to a 10-3 rout. The semi-finals featured no shortage of excitement. Junior flame-thrower Katie Hebert's gem, staunch defense behind her, and timely hitting from the offense allowed the girls to take home a 2-1 victory and an appearance in the State Championship. Another strong outing from Hebert, aggressive batting, and solid defense gave Lowell High School a 4-0 victory over Taconic Regional and their first state title in softball. What a spring!

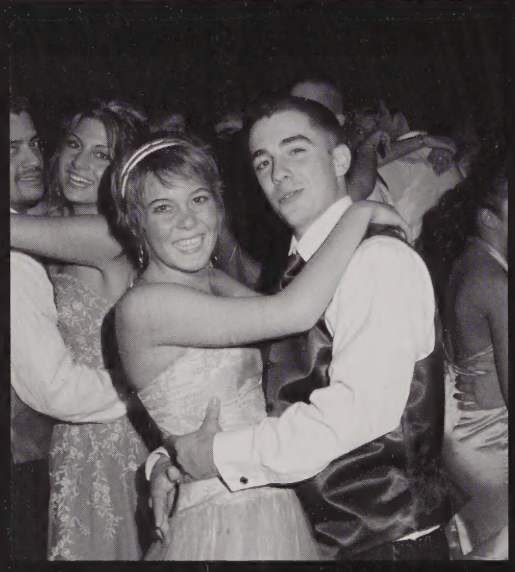
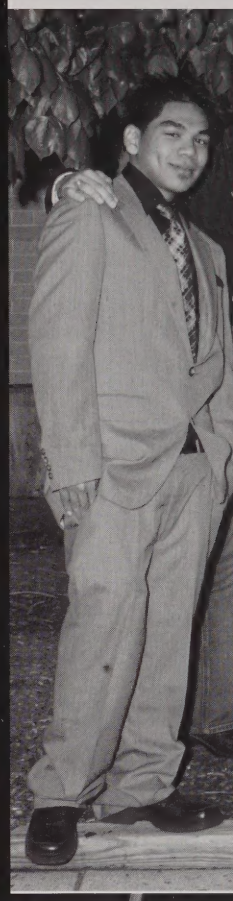
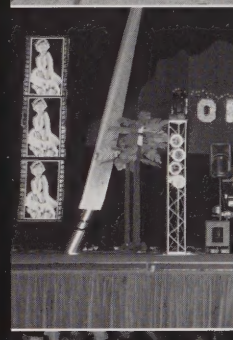
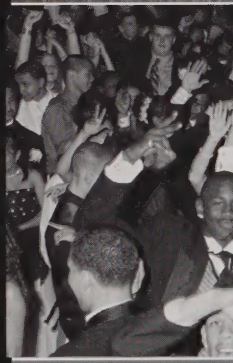
A Night in Old Hollywood









A Night in Old Hollywood: Looking out over the Hollywood Hills and through the photo collages of stars from yesteryear, 800 plus students gathered for the 2005 Senior Prom. With spotlights and hot hits, seniors embraced the theme through decorations, table settings, outfits and party favors. A scrolling film strip frame was given out to the first 500 ticket takers during sales from Room 417. Seniors took to the ballot box too while perusing for a suitable King & Queen. DJ Josh Spitaleri capped off four years of dances at LHS by bringing a light & video show like no other. In the Hall of Flags where students entered, candid photo opportunities were abundant in front of the streetcar and intersection of Hollywood & Rodeo Drives. A full hot buffet was provided by Lenzi's while students waited until 10 p.m. for the infamous chocolate fountain that did not disappoint. Cold sandwiches & desserts kept revelers well stocked for dancing until midnight. After much fun, many headed home to prepare for the state track meet while others headed to Happy Hampton for fun in the sun.
